

1 had to come in in the middle, but that was our only option if we wanted to take drama. The B track
2 class had two assemblies a semester where they performed scenes, but I didn't get to participate in 3 the first assembly because I hadn't been there with the class before the assembly to practice and learn
4 the scenes. Then for the second half of the year, some of the other A track drama students and I went 5 to school during our off-track time to take the C track drama class. I was working at school at the 6 time, so right after I got off work I went to the class.

7 7. The school only offers one calculus class, so you have to go whenever the teacher is 8 on track to take that class. So if the class is offered on a track you're not on, then you have to go 9 when you're off track to the class, too, or you can't take the class.

10 8. Sometimes there are more students than seats in the classes. During my senior year 11 in 1999, I didn't have an assigned seat in my government class all year. One other kid and I had to 12 sit in front of the classroom computers because there weren't enough regular seats for us. Sitting in 13 front of the computer meant that we had little desk space and that we had to move to let other 14 students use the computer. I think that problem is still happening in that classroom.

15 9. The air conditioning doesn't work in some of the classrooms, and in the classes that 16 don't have air conditioning it can get pretty hot. In my science class my senior year, it was really hot.
17 We'd sweat in class for about two months of the year. The heat really affected my concentration.

18 10. The bathrooms at the school are grimy. I'm still there even after I've graduated 19 because I work at the school now, and I use the bathrooms so I know what they're like. Some of the 20 bathrooms are locked so we can't get into them. Every once in a long while they change which 21 bathrooms are locked, so you might try to go to one that's usually unlocked and then find that it's 22 now locked. Usually around five of the 10 bathrooms for boys and five of the 10 bathrooms for girls 23 are open and unlocked. There are about five stalls and five urinals in each bathroom for boys, and 24 two sinks. The toilet paper runs out, and sometimes the water doesn't work. Sometimes we have 25 no soap. And sometimes the toilets themselves don't work.

26 11. There are rats and field mice running around on parts of parts of the campus. We also 27 have huge roaches at the school. Once in a while you see the rats or mice or roaches in class. There 28 are also ants.

1 12. About a month ago, a computer lab in the math/science building and a couple of the 2 math classrooms had their roof collapse because of air conditioning leaks. The computer lab just 3 opened recently after being closed for repairs for two months because the computers got wet. I know
4 about the problem because I had to go in to replace the computers as part of my job at the school.
